ANOTHER MUTINY .- On Tuesday of last week acreral of the soldiers who figured so prominently to the disturbance at the barracks, and who had been shipped to work for twelve months on Mr. M'Kengue's plantation at Koolan, became distatisfied with their food, and told him that they intended to have. As he had advanced sixty dollars to each, he was not inclined to flaten to their demands. They refused to come to terms on any condition said he was compelled to have warrants leaved for their arrest. The judge and constables of the district all appear to have been afraid lest they should stir up another disturbance like that at the barracks, and handled the rebels as gingerly as if they dreaded their power. The first one tried was acquitted, but before the others were disposed of, the district judge decided to postpone their trial until be could confer with the authorities in Hono-Inlu, and the prisoners were ordered to be locked up for the night. The next day, as near as we can warn the result, all went back to work. That this meting (for it is nothing cise) is one of the results of the late performance at the barracks, and of allowing the mutineers to go supunished, no one can

BODY FOUND .- A dispatch from Shelburn to Edward Baum of this place, says the White Pine News of September 27th, announces the painful intormation that the body of J. S. Low, Deputy County Surveyor of this county, was found in Silver Canyon, Cherry Creek District, on Wednesday last. Particulars are not given, and his friends here are left to surmise that his death was sudden while alone, as he was stricken some months ago with paralysis, from which he was supposed to have recovered. He had recently returned from a sea voyage, which he had taken for the benefit of his health. Low was well known in this section of the State, and was highly esteemed by a large circle of acquaintances. —Sacramento Union.

residence, Nuuanu Avenue, was discovered to be on The fire crept up and over the roof, and for ten or fitteen minutes burned very slowly. But during this time no water was obtainable from the fire plug near by, the key of which was not to be found. In the meantime the fire had gained headway, and ommunicated to the main building, but very soon after the water was brought on, the fire began to give way, and in the course of an hour was extinguished. The rear and roof of the dwelling were consumed and will have to be replaced. Other parts of the building are more or less damaged by fire and water. The furniture was mostly removed, but is also much damaged. The fire originated in the cook-house, just in what way no one knows. Had there been a handy supply of water, in a cask or from the hydrant, obtainable immediately after the fire was discovered, it might have been extinguished with no other loss perhaps than that of the small building in which it originated. Two thousand dollars will probably cover the loss, on which there

The Court found that the defendants had stored 1200 tons of sugar in the homes with the intention of forwarding by Steamer, but which was shipped by packets, and that plaintiff had not shown that the goods charged in the bill of complaint as "not the subject of steamship transpartation" were in set as a within that class; and gave ludgment for defendants. Whereupon plaintiff filed a bill of exceptions to the rulling and the case came before the full court at the sittings in Bance of the last July Term, when a majority of the Court decided (Widemans, J., dissenting) that the construction to be placed on the steamship contract was, that it gave the company the free use of the wharf and storehouse for its steamers and goods shipped thereou ; and permitted the Minister of the Interior to charge all persons, agents of the company or not, for storage of other goods. The exceptions were sustained and a new trial ordered, and the same being had at the present October Term, the jury, after an absence of many five hours, were massle to agree upon a verdict, and were discharged. General Estraba's troops, after assassinating a detachment of Palacica' forces, which, under a flag of truces, approached the fort, sacked Omeo, and imprisoned all British subjects, gutted the consulates of America, England, Spain and Portugal, tore the American flag to pieces, and sacked merchants' safes and warehouses, leaving them perfect wrecks. The Niebe soon after arrived, and demanded the surrender of imprisoned foreigners and explanations for the outrage. The authorities were obstinate, and refused to accede to the demands of the commander of the Niebe, when a bombardment followed until a flag of truce was shown. The prisoners were then surof truce was shown. The prisoners were then a rendered, and compensation was guaranteed.

Opposition to the Parific Mail Steamship Lin A Washington despatch says an officer of the United States Navy, lately attached to the Asiatic equatron, arrived in that city from Yokohama, Japan. He makes the announcement that an English company has completed arrangements and will at an early day establish a line of steamers to run in opposition to the Pacific Mail Steamshy Company's line between San Francisco, China and Japan. He states that experience has proved that the side wheel steamers built for and now being used by the Pacific Mail Company on the China line are entirely lindequate. for the service. Depending as they do entirely on steam, a large amount of their carrying espacity is taken up with east necessary for so long a voyage. The English company have miopted (vil rigged server propollers, similar in design, and equal in every respect to first class vessels now plying between New York and Europe.
